

THE CAGELINER VETERINARY TELEMEDICINE BINGO!

Client in Bed	Email inviting them to platform in junk folder	Complains that they have to pay for this	Client arrives at clinic, does appointment in parking lot	Asks for your cell #, and if you can just Facetime them
On mute	Internet goes out	Hidden family member starts talking	They follow pet around house with camera	Client late for consult on telemed platform
Client can not get on to platform	Client sends 10 blurry images and a video of pet		Client answers their phone during consult	Client goes to kitchen to look at type of dog food
Feeling awash with relief you are not in same room as this client	Client turns off camera	Lotsa kids in background	You keep trying to convince colleagues to give telemed a try like a drug dealer	You ask if they can hear you as icebreaker
You blame something on COVID	You are not wearing pants	You have your dog with you and you are loving it!	You say something like "I'm never going back"	You check your phone during consult